Biography

With a strong understanding of the importance of leadership, engagement and continuous improvement, I am driven by a passion to help others grow and develop. I have a strong belief that each individual in their own way wants to be a part of something bigger than themselves. They want to be engaged, they want to be involved and they want to be valued. Beyond Connections brings a unique approach to learning and organizational improvement, encompassing knowledge, experience and heart.

With a certification in Change and Human Resource Management specialist I have a passion and vision for continuous improvement and engagement. Leveraging my education and experience, I am able to accelerate teams in their development and improvement processes, engaging and empowering individuals to think beyond the norm and take charge of their change journey.

I strongly understand and value the knowledge and insight that all individuals have within. I remain committed to engaging, empowering and helping teams evolve, harnessing the old adage “If You Can Do It - We Can Help” in improvement processes and LEAN methodology by embracing the human talent in all organizations.

Building CONNECTIONS to go BEYOND what we can do alone.

"I've had the great fortune to see Kelly present a number of times on a wide range of topics. Her thought provoking presentations are enhanced by her down-to-earth relatable presentation style. I always look forward to what Kelly is going to say."

Dave Reidy, President and CEO - Henderson Insurance Inc.

"The expertise that Kelly brings to projects is indispensable. Beyond Connections brings a balance and energy to projects that bring out the energy in any group, meeting everyone involved at a personal level, thus growing trust and honesty. This results in a more guided project which greatly improves the end result."

Dallas Huard, Architect, SAA, MAA, MRAIC, A.T., Principal - aodbt architecture + interior design

"Kelly was knowledgeable, engaging, approachable and flexible in her approach, and was able to present effectively to a large group and in an intimate tableside setting with a smaller collective. I would recommend Kelly as a speaker and/or facilitator for business events both large and small."
